AG Balderas Invites New Mexicans to Public Safety Day at Isotopes Park

Special agents from the AG's Office will be on hand to discuss preventing and reporting Internet Crimes Against Children & Human Trafficking

Albuquerque, NM – Today, Attorney General Hector Balderas is inviting New Mexicans to attend Public Safety Day at Isotopes Park for Sunday's game against the Reno Aces. Special agents, police officers, first responders and their families from around New Mexico will be cheering on the Isotopes.

"I am encouraging New Mexicans to come out on Sunday to cheer on our Isotopes as they beat the Reno Aces, but also to support the hard working women and men of law enforcement from around New Mexico," said Attorney General Hector Balderas. "Office of the Attorney General special agents will be in attendance to talk to families about preventing human trafficking and child exploitation."

"As an organization, Public Safety Day is the Isotopes chance to honor every one of our first responders and their families," said John Traub, Albuquerque Isotopes Vice President and General Manager. "These men and women do so much for our community, this is the least we can do to say thank you to these true heroes."

Tickets are only $9 per person for all public safety employees and their families.
